

Job mediation

for international development cooperation and humanitarian aid

NEDWORC Association offers job mediation services to recruiting firms and organisations looking for experts in international development cooperation and humanitarian aid. Qualified consultants can be identified, free of charge, by (1) posting a job announcement on the Vacature Alert mailing list or by (2) searching the expert database, with profiles and CVs.

Publish Job Announcements on the Vacature Alert mailing list

Some 400 Nedworc consultants have subscribed to Nedworc's electronic mailing list for job postings. Use the on-line form to submit your job adverts: www.nedworc.org > Job Mediation > Publish Job Announcements. Interested consultants will contact you directly, without interference from the association.

Search profiles and CVs in the expert database

Some 200 profiles and CVs can be searched to find consultants that match your requirements, using the search form of the database. Identified consultants can be contacted directly as email-addresses are provided: www.nedworc.org > Job Mediation > Search Profile.

NEDWORC Association is based in the Netherlands. All members have endorsed the NEDWORC Code of Conduct. Next to job mediation services, NEDWORC Association offers its members a forum for networking, discussions and exchange of information, options for continuous professional development and opportunities for mutual support.
